Barbara Hughes Sullivan, Executive Director

Dear Village Members,
Friends and Supporters!

Count down! Four months until the 11th annual National Village Conference.

The planning committee
is diligently working to make this the best conference yet! We are excited about our agenda, which is 90 percent finalized and we're working on the finishing touches. We have some amazing speakers and a wonderful choral performance lined up too!

Last year we sent out surveys to see how we could enhance and also consolidate our conference and got some great suggestions on speakers, breakout sessions, costs and networking opportunities. Late last year, Mandy Summerson, VtVN board president, and I went to the AARP conference in Charlotte. It was a great opportunity to learn about AARP initiatives, but also a learning experience about how to make the most out of conference time. The take away for this year is reduced cost of registration and a consolidated conference.

It helps that Chicago is located right in the middle of the country and has easy access from all points of the U.S. Our agenda is packed in two-and-a-half days!
The preconference will start on Wednesday morning and is a great opportunity for Villages in the exploratory or development phase. The main conference will start at 3 p.m. that day and will end on Friday at noon.

Both conference evenings are filled with speakers and networking opportunities.
Stayed tuned for information on Thursday evening's dinner, which will be held in the ballroom but will incorporate our "dine around" feature.

We are still working on sponsorships, so if you know of a vendor that would like to participate, have them get in touch with us in the office. This is a great opportunity for face-to-face conversations with Village decision makers!

Last but not least, don't forget to register and also book your hotel. Early bird registration ends June 1, so take advantage of the discount. Groups need to contact the office for registrations
this year, you cannot book them online.
All the information is on our website at vtvnetwork.org.

Thank you all and enjoy this late spring—
here comes summer!

VtV Network Pushing Village Movement Forward

The Community Networks for Aging in Place Alliance teamed up with Village to Village Network and the Massachusetts Council on Aging to host a workshop to examine the spectrum of needs and interests of an aging population that are critical to individual health and well-being. The workshop was held in Newton, Massachusetts in late March and streamed to Villages in the Berkshires and Cape Cod.

Village to Village Network Executive Director Barbara Sullivan and board member Eddie Rivas attended a focus group with the Virginia Villages and Shepherd Centers, held at Chesterbrook Residences in Fairfax, Virginia in late April. As the keynote speaker, Sullivan encouraged Villages in Virginia to work together to scale the Village movement. Rivas talked about the Washington Area Village Exchange, the benefits of the regional coalition and the mentoring program.

Silvernest Working To Help Teachers In Need

“ I remember the teacher who made me fall in love with learning. I won't let cost of living stop me from being that person for one of my students. Caroline Silva, AGE 21 - Early Childhood Educator ESTIMATED SALARY: $26,000 ”

Earlier this year, CNN published a story exploring the income crisis faced by Colorado teachers. The story profiled teachers who drive for Lyft, live out of friends' basements, take on side hustles and sacrifice savings to pursue the profession they love.

Colorado teachers in urban areas earn an average $32K/year, making affordable housing a major challenge.

In the Denver area, Teach For America (TFA) and Silvernest are partnering to alleviate some of the financial pressure on educators by giving them access to affordable housing through homesharing.

Interested homeowners can sign up to rent space in their homes to TFA educators, creating major rent savings for the teachers and a new income stream for themselves.

Village to Village Network has a great relationship with Silvernest and we support their efforts to help struggling teachers.

Vision Resources Worth Looking Into

VtV Network member Palos Verdes Peninsula Village, shared a Vision Resources document compiled by student volunteer, Rachael Kengott, who is finishing up her master's in gerontology at USC.

While some of these resources are located in California, many are available to anyone and the document might give you ideas about services you could check into in your own community.

Mill City Commons Celebrates 10 Years!

Minneapolis, Minnesota, is home to a variety of top-notch arts venues, professional sports teams, educational institutions and a city-wide park system second to none. It's a beautiful city with a thriving downtown. Subsequently, old and young, alike, have made the decision to relocate and call downtown Minneapolis home.

Nestled along the Mississippi riverfront, Mill City Commons, part of the 250+ Village to Village National Network, provides its members a place to thrive and belong. A robust calendar of programs is offered each month, member-to-member transportation and hospitality services are greatly appreciated and a means to connect and build relationships with one's neighbors carries significant value. Members can select from a wide array of programming opportunities each month featuring the arts, community engagement, education/cultural, social, wellness or volunteer options. Taken together with all the downtown has to offer, membership in our Village offers a stimulating and connective experience.

In its 10th Anniversary Year, MCC serves as an anchor to its larger neighborhood, collaborating with a variety of area businesses, restaurants and arts organizations in joint efforts to build community. Members' daily interactions, whether on the street, inside an area shop or outside a community partner's business, are common. The pervasive sense of neighborhood delights members who are glad to call the Mill City District home.

Two hundred and twenty members strong, Mill City Commons keeps its pipeline of new members filled in several ways. Word of mouth remains the most effective means by which new members make their way to us. Whether membership info is received through a local realtor or a current member, the personal touch is highly effective. In addition, invitations to attend an upcoming program as our guest appear weekly in our e-newsletter. Oftentimes, potential new members wish they could "try on" membership for a short while to assess what MCC has to offer, not only to experience the quality of our programming but also to see if it's a good fit. As a result, the Board agreed in 2017 to offer trial memberships to people who have never been a member. Trial memberships run for a set three-month period each year and include full member benefits. If the trial member decides to purchase a full membership at the end of the trial membership period, the initial fee is applied against the full membership fee. It has been hugely successful, increasing MCC's bottom-line membership numbers positively by 14%!

There's a lot to be grateful for! Our Great Decisions program touts a strong membership of one hundred participants and our Nosy Neighbor Tours are a member-favorite. The following quote pretty much sums up the MCC experience: "I am enjoying my membership in MCC. It is one of the best things to have happened to me recently. I have found it an extraordinary diverse group of thoughtful, curious and caring people. The organization is supported by responsive staff who deliver the mission of MCC at every point of contact...face-to-face, news letters and follow up."

We're excited for the next 10 years of Village life together and being part of the ever-increasing density and vitality of downtown Minneapolis.

Mill City Commons: We learn. We share. We engage. We give.

Mill City Commons members enjoy a wide variety of programs and services and have had great success with their three-month trial membership.
